USELESS PRESIDENTIAL TRIVIA

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was the only president to be elected to four consecutive terms. He served 4,422 days in office, and died early in his fourth term.

President William Henry Harrison served the shortest term in office. Before his death in April 1841 He served just 32 days.

On July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, John Adams (the second President) and Thomas Jefferson (the third President) both died.

President Grover Cleveland was the only President to serve two non-consecutive terms. He served as the 22nd President from 1885-1889 and again as the 24th President from 1893-1897.

There is a five letter word when written in all capital letters that will spell the same word when turned upside down. What is it?

Our last newsletter had an interesting story about one of our Presidents and his son. What was the name of the President in the story?
